DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/3/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ishimori et al. (6,038,840).

Ishimori et al. Shows the claimed invention where a chute (68) on a lawn mower is disposed between an oil reservoir (7, 8 in the form of a transmission, the transmission containing lubricant; the transmission driving an axle, thus also an "axle driving apparatus"), the reservoir being lower than the chute, and a belt (see figure 2 where the belt wraps around an idler pulley (61e) on the opposite side of the chute from the oil reservoir); the oil reservoir being to the side (sideways) of the chute and does not abut the chute as best seen in figure 2.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments, see pages 5-6, filed 3/3/05, with respect to claims 7 and 9 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of the claims has been withdrawn.

5. Applicant's arguments filed 3/3/05 with respect to claim 8 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Claim 8 is met by Ishimori et al. since the claims require the duct to be above the axle driving apparatus. This is met since the duct portion which is next to the axle driving apparatus is above. Note, the claims do not require the duct to be directly over or on top of the axle driving apparatus, merely "above".
